

Challenging Interaction Reflection Tool

Challenging interaction/choice you disagree with or don't understand/frustrating behavior	How do your own identities shape your feelings about this?	How does your relationship to the dominant White American culture influence your thinking and feelings about this?	What reframing can you do to help you successfully move forward with this family?  What additional learning about this family and their ways of thinking will be helpful for you in better understanding this family's perspective?

Challenging Interaction Reflection Tool

--	--	--	--